

CS 201
Final Examination

Answer two of the following questions in essay form:

1. Of the heroic characters we met this semester, discuss two who fulfill Plato's conditions for a just individual. Provide examples.
2. Discuss the dominant attitude towards women in the books that we read, providing examples from at least three books.
3. Lucretius denies the interference of gods in human affairs. What are his reasons? Discuss instances in which such interference caused suffering to human beings in two of the books that we read.
4. Discuss the relevance of the themes of the books that we read to your personal experiences, providing examples from at least three books.

