

One axis is diameter of original circle. The other axis is the projection of original circle on front view.

